FOOTBALL PLAYERS MUST LIVE CLEAN

CAN'T SMOKE, PLAY AND BE GENTLEMAN — MAYNOR

WANTS STRONG SUPPORT

New Battery Will Teach Men Proper Respect for Others and Instill Patriotism

"I do not say that a man cannot be a gentleman if he smokes or chews or if he does a lot of other things," said Eugene A. Maynor, coach at the State Teachers College, in speaking last night at the Chamber of Commerce dinner, held at the First Presbyterian Church. "I insist that he can be. But I do say that he cannot do these things and be a gentleman if he plays on a football team. When he goes on the team he pledges himself that he is not to do these things and any man who breaks his pledge is not a gentleman."

Coach Maynor explained what he expected of the team and what he desires from the people of the town.

"I cannot say what kind of a team we will have," said the coach, "but I do say that the material will be at the College to make a good team. If we have a team that gets a lot of goose eggs, blame me and not the players.

"The team will need the best support and co-operation that the people of Maryville can give it, if it is to be a winning team. When you get to a game forget that you are president of a bank or that you are something else and give the team a lot of support. If a man play well limber up and tell him so. Slap him on the back if you have a chance. It will not give him the bighead. And if he plays poor ball tell him that he is rotten.

"But while we need all the support that you can give the team we do not need your money. If you want to bet on the team it is none of my business but you need expect no tips from me.

"I hope that the people of Maryville will do whatever they can to help encourage the men of the team to lead clean lives. If they do not live clean lives they will not be able to play the game that they are capable of. I want the eleven men on the team to be able to go onto the field able to play for the best that is in them every minute of the game. I'll keep no man on the squad that breaks training rules, if I know of it."

Coach Maynor also explained the purpose of Battery C of the Missouri National Guard that he is organizing in Maryville.

"The battery would mean that from $15,000 to $18,000 a year will be expended in Maryville," said the coach, "but it is not for this that I believe that it should be organized. I am no stronger for war and preparedness than a lot of other people here who have been through a war, although I do believe in being ready if another should come. I hope however, that there will never be another one. The greatest benefit that will come from a military organization here will be things of this nature: After the battery is formed for a while you will never see one of its members go slouching up to a man whom he should greatly respect and address him with a cigarette in his mouth. You will see him walk up straight like a man and use the proper respect. When the band plays the Star Spangled Banner on Thursday evenings you will not see a lot of young fellows standing about with their hats on and conversing with one another. You will see them straighten up, uncover and stand at attention.

"The battery will instill into the men the correct patriotism and respect for the flag and make them desire to be good citizens in general."

The Rev. S. P. Allison was chairman at the dinner. He called on C. T. Partch, new instructor in vocational guidance at the State Teachers College. Mr. Partch said that he had been accorded the warmest of welcome in Maryville and that he appreciated it very much.

The dinner was served by the Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian Church and it was a good one. Fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy were three of the most pleasing things about the meal. The women also had an efficient system of serving. Scarcely had the men been seated when such a flock of women came in with plates all ready that it was but a little while until every one was served.

The dinner last night was the first one that has been held by the Chamber of Commerce since its summer recess. The next one will be held Monday evening of next week at the Baptist Church.

COUNTY I. O. O. F. TO BE HERE OCT. 19

ORGANIZATION WAS REVIVED AT MEETING LAST WEEK.

TO COMPETE FOR CUP

Wilcox Holds It Now But Others Say That They Will Take It Away From Her.

The Nodaway County organization of the I. O. O. F. was revived at the Northwest Missouri meeting held in Maryville last week and a meeting of the organization is planned to be held here October 19. At the meeting of the Maryville lodge, to be held this evening, the plans will be discussed.

All the lodges in the county are members of the organization and each of them is expected to send delegates to the meeting here in October. The meetings are to be held three times a year, in place of four times as was the arrangement under the regime under which the organization was conducted when it was in existence before. The meetings will be held in October, January and April, omitting the July meeting, owing to the busy season at that time of year.

The meetings are to be passed around from one town to the other. The one in January will be held at some place in the county other than Maryville.

A committee composed of M. L. Griggs of Barnard, J. O. McMillan of Barnard, Charley Woods of Hopkins, Dr. K. R. Malotte of Maryville and Fred W. Smith of Maryville has been appointed to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the organization. The committee will report at the meeting to be held here next month and its work will be passed on at that time.

The county organization existed for a time in Nodaway and did well, but no meeting has been held now for two or three years. The purpose of reorganizing is that of helping the smaller lodges along as well as forwarding the work of the order as a whole. At the meeting to be held in October there will be a business session in the afternoon and a program in the evening.

When the organization was operating several years ago, Ben Weidel, grand secretary of the I. O. O. F. gave a cup to the lodges in the county for which they were to compete for ownership. The competition was to be on the grounds of attendance at the meetings of the county organization. The arrangement was that the lodge having the largest percentage of attendance at the meeting was to take home with it the cup. Wilcox won the cup two meetings in succession but on the third lost to Dawson. Wilcox won it back at the fourth meeting, the last one that was held, and has the cup yet. Members of the order say that there will be competition at the October meeting for the cup again.

Following are the lodges in Nodaway County; Maryville, Pickering, Hopkins, Barnard, Guilford, Ravenwood, Parnell, Clearmont, Elmo, Dawson, Burlington Junction, Skidmore, Graham and Wilcox.

Grover Leffler of DeQueen, Ark., who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Sarah Leffler, and other relatives in Wilcox, will leave this evening for his home.

50TH ANNIVERSARY AT GRAHAM CHURCH

PRESBYTERIANS TO HOLD IT NEXT SUNDAY

TO RING THE OLD BELL

Committees to Take Care of the Various Phases Have Been Appointed

The fiftieth anniversary of the Graham Presbyterian church will be celebrated with an all-day meeting Sunday. A team from the Maryville Presbyterian Church will furnish the afternoon program. The speakers from Maryville will be President Uel W. Lamkin of the State Teachers College, the Rev. S. P. Allison, pastor of the church, and Prof. C. E. Wells of the College faculty.

The speaker of the morning will be Dr. Marion Humphreys of St. Joseph. He will speak at both the Sunday school and church services. At this time there will be an opportunity for the baptism of infants and for the reception of applicants for church membership.

At noon a basket dinner will be served in a grove of trees near the church.

Committees have been appointed from the membership of the church to take care of all who attend. The committees follow: chairman on arrangements, W. E. Freytag; officer of the day, C. R. Leeper, Sr.; committee on music, Mrs. E. L. Morgan, W. L. Bussell, Mrs. Ralph McDowell, Misses Rose Geyer, Nettie Sperling, Harold Morris and Irvin Acklin; committee on dinner, Mrs. Mary Lyle, Mrs. S. F. Hayzlett, Mrs. Dan MacGrew, Mrs. E. W. Geyer, Mrs. W. H. Morris, Mrs. M. E. Schindler and Mrs. C. C. McDowell; committee on speakers, S. F. Hayzlett, R. E. Geyer, T. H. Acklin, J. L. Robertson, and James Sperling; committee on table and seats, Paul Rayston, H. H. Wright, E. W. Geyer, Jonas Shields; committee on ushers, Albert Gaph, Lester Acklin.

The Graham Presbyterian Church was the first organization of that denomination in this county. It was organized in 1860 and the following were charter members: John and Mary E. Power, Henry and Martha Walker, Elizabeth Gresham, Sarah Vinsonhaler Aaron and Mary Cole, A. E. Rea, Elizabeth McCoy and Mary Waterman. The church building was finished in November of that year and was dedicated by the first pastor, the Rev. M. L. Anderson, assisted by the Rev. W. L. Thomas.

The site of the church was given by Richard Bohart and his son, J. H. Bohart, and Peter Maurer hauled the church bell in a cart pulled by oxen from Bigelow. These two young men rang the bell for the first time fifty years ago and they will again ring it at the semi-centennial next Sunday.

Some of the descendants of the charter members of the church, still living in the community are R. G. Cower and Charles Cower of Maitland, Mrs. Samuel C. Hayzlett of Graham.

Willam and Allie Eshelman were early members and workers in the church. "Uncle Billy," as he was known by his friends, served his church as an elder until his death in 1909. Others who spent long years of service in the church are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hutchison and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Taylor. Both of these men were elders in the church, the former for a period of thirty-six years and the latter for twenty-two years.

Some of the women of the church who have been faithful workers are Mrs. Christie A. Peterson, Miss Nannie Maurer, Mrs. C. E. Taylor, Mrs. Grace Long, Mrs. Anna E. Morgan, Miss Flossie Eshelman, Miss Otto B. Davis and Miss Leona Eshelman.

The present official board of the church is composed of J. H. Bohart, Frank Leeper, W. E. Freytag, Clyde Long, Clarence R. Leeper, Paul A. Rayston and Mrs. W. E. Freytag. Mrs. E. L. Morgan is the church treasurer.

TIE IN BLIND BOGEY AT COUNTRY CLUB

ROWLEY AND BEATTIE EACH MAKE SCORE OF 88.

MRS. W. J. STAPLES WINS

Four Players in Men's Bracket Missed By But One Point, Making 89

The Blind Bogey Contest of the Maryville Country Club, which began Saturday and ended last night, resulted in a tie for first place in men's competition between Burt M. Rowley and M. L. Beattie and in a win for Mrs. W. J. Staples in the ladies' play. The Blind Bogey was Number 88. Mr. Rowley and Mr. Beattie both finished with 88 and Mrs. Staples registered 87. The prizes consisted of a half dozen golf balls.

The tourney was a novel idea, was promoted by Ray Harvey, the golf instructor at the Country Club. Each player took a handicap which would make his total score somewhere between 85 and 95. The Blind Bogey was a number somewhere in this limit. It was selected by Harvey and sealed in an envelop.

Four players in the men's bracket missed the bogey but one point. M. A. Peery, Dr. Jesse Miller, Jr., Byron Cosello and B. D. Null all shot an 89. In the ladies' division Mrs. W. J. Montgomery was second with a 90.

The Blind Bogey Tournament is the first of a series of "stunts" which will be held at the Country Club within the near future.

In addition to the scores published yesterday the following were made: C. G. Vogt, minus 5, 87, 82; E. E. Williams, minus 10, 126, 116; James Todd, minus 7, 106, 99; F. P. Reuillard, minus 20, 104, 84; Dr. D. J. Thomas, minus 20, 100, 80; Dr. Jesse Miller, minus 30, 106, 76; L. M. Eck, plus 7, 91, 98; S. M. Stanley, 98, 98; W. S. Todd, minus 5, 106, 101; Nick Sturm, minus 20, 104, 84; Geo. Wilfley, 88, 88; Ellis Cook, minus 2, 95, 93; W. J. Staples, minus 10, 91, 81; H. H. Mutz, minus 10, 106, 96; Fred French, minus 10, 94, 84; C. M. Price, minus 5, 103, 98; C. C. Hellmers, minus 50, 135, 85; W. A. Rickenbrode, minus 8, 104, 96; S. P. Allison, 91, 91; R. C. Seals, 91, 91.

In the ladies division additional scores were: Mrs. M. L. Beattie, minus 40, 107, 67; Mrs. G. B. Baker, minus, 30, 112, 32; Mrs. Chas. Jensen, minus 12, 102, 90.

There were fifteen players who did not take a handicap but left their total score stand as they made it. The largest handicap was minus 50. It was taken by C. C. Hellmers.

ENROLLMENT AT COLLEGE IS 331

ONLY FOURTEEN LESS THAN TOTAL LAST FALL.

CLASS WORK TOMORROW

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, total enrollment at the State Teachers College was 331. That is, that many students had paid the incidental fee of $10. This number is just fourteen less than the total enrollment for the fall quarter last year.

It has always been the case that a large number of students enroll after the first day, so the enrollment for the fall quarter should be much larger than last year for the corresponding quarter.

School has started at the State Teachers College. Registration began this morning and the library was crowded all day. The tables at which the faculty members, who are advising with the students sat, were surrounded by students from 8 on. The College would be a good place to study mob psychology today for there is most every kind of an individual in the mass of students who are trying to make out the schedules for the quarter. Married men, old maids, mere children, pretty girls, awkward boys, flappers, cake eaters, all are busy and all are excited. Some are cross and some are good-natured but all are busy and all seem in a hurry.

The new comers at the College are quite evident. The students who have been here before seem more at ease and have a good time at the job but the new ones—they have trouble finding out who to consult or what the programs means or how to fill them out-but they will learn.

The paying of the incidental fees to the College treasurer, Murray Welling, is coming along fine. At the desk of W. A. Rickenbrode, the registrar, the number who have actually enrolled is not nearly so large as the number who have paid $10.

All of the faculty members seem to be on the job and the indications are that classes will start of in regular routine tomorrow morning.

For the first time in the history of the school there seems to be a slight feeling of class spirit at the beginning of the year. Several freshman boys have been frightened today and some practical joker has sold a number of new students the privilege of using the drinking fountain or a permanent seat in the College auditorium.

It is expected that students will continue to arrive for enrollment at the College for a week.

The one-room school at the State Teachers College opened this morning for enrollment. Regular work will begin tomorrow. The school will be taught by two teachers. Miss Elvira Ward will handle the work in the mornings. The teacher for the afternoons has not been announced. This school will be run on the rural plan and the system of alternation prescribed in the state course of study will be used.

The enrollment of the school is limited to thirty, but this number has not yet been reached.

Miss Dora B. Smith will be the supervisor of the elementary school work at the State Teachers College.

Members to Make Personal Effort to Get a Man That Should be in.

At the close of the Chamber of Commerce program given last night at the First Presbyterian Church in connection with the weekly dinner of the Chamber R. P. Hosmer formerly president, presented a matter regarding membership in the organization. Mr. Hosmer had a list of a number of men in Maryville that it was thought should be members of the Chamber and who might be induced to join, if they were approached in the right way. Accordingly, the list was read and everyone who would do so was asked to select one man from the group and make a personal effort to obtain his membership.

Two weeks from last night was the time set for bringing in the new members.

Mr. Hosmer said that it was the ambition of the Chamber to begin the year of 1923 with as many or more members in the Chamber than it had as any time during the year of 1922. For this reason the canvass is being put on.

"An organization, if it is to continue to exist and do any good, must continue to grow," said Mr. Hosmer. "We want to grow and to do so we need new members."

The fee for membership for the rest of the year will be $5.00.

With the dinner last night the entertainment committee that was appointed earlier in the summer had furnished four entertainments and it was time to appoint another committee. The new committee is C. C. Hellmers, J. R. Lowry and J. B. Cummins and it will furnish the entertainment for next Monday evening.

WILKERSON WON'T MODIFY INJUNCTION

IS SECOND BIG SETBACK FOR UNIONS

A SEPARATE PEACE PLAY

B. M. Jewell Admits for First Time That He Favors Such an Action And Wants It Accepted

Chicago, Sept. 12—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today denied the motion to modify the most drastic provisions of temporary injunction that has been secured by the government against the striking railroad shopmen. The denial was the second setback given the union side of the case, the court yesterday having declined to dismiss the writ.

The judge today said he would hold the motion to modify in abeyance to restrict and destroy interstate commerce. Attorney Richberge for the unions today charged that a statement made by Daugherty to the newspapers was libelous and tended to prejudice the case against his clients.

Chicago, Sept. 12—Settlement on the separate peace plan for ending the railroad strike should be reached late this afternoon, B. M. Jewell, president of the striking shopcrafts announced upon entering the secret session of the shopmen's policy committee to continue the deliberations. Jewell thus for the first time admitted that he had arranged for aseparate settlement plan with various railroads and that he urged its acceptance by the policy committee.

ONLY FULLY NATURALIZED CITIZENS ARE TO VOTE

News of the Constitutional Convention, written by J. S. Hubbard, Executive Secretary Missouri Press Association. Week ending September 9.

Jefferson City, Sept. 9—Only citizens of the United States, over the age of twenty-one, will have the right to vote in Missouri after the adoption of the new Constitution, as provided by the report of the Committee on suffrage and elections and adopted by the convention. The change from the old Constitution provisions is that foreigners who have taken out only their first papers will not be allowed to vote. They must become fully naturalized citizens of the United States, which means at least five years' residence, and reside in the state a year. Idiots and insane persons are added to the list of ineligibles, while a specific provision gives the right of suffrage to inmates of soldiers' and sailors' homes.

Provision is made by the committee report for the opening of ballots in grand jury investigations and in the trial of all cases, either civil or criminal, in which the violation of any of the election laws, including elections for the nomination of candidates for any office, is under investigation or at issue. Under the present Constitution the ballot box can only be opened in case of a contested election.

Another provision of the report, as amended by the Convention, makes it mandatory on the legislature to provide for registration of voters in all cities and counties having a population of 100,000 or more and in all cities of 10,000 or more located in counties having a population of less than 100,000. The committee report made it optional with the legislature for registration in the smaller cities, and many hours were spent in discussion and several amendments and substitutes were offered and voted down, but the provisions in brief as stated here were finally adopted by the committee of the whole. The section will still be open to amendment when it comes up for final vote in the convention.

The absent-voter section of the old Constitution has been changed, reserving the mandatory provision to apply to those engaged in military service and making it permissible for the legislature to provide the same privilege to other absentees, but limiting it to those within the state.

The literacy test proposed by the committee, qualifying the right to vote, met with much opposition and will probably not be adopted unless some plan is proposed that will insure to every person in the state white or Negro, an opportunity to learn to read and write the English language. It was pointed out that there were hundreds living in scattered and sparsely settled localities who did not now enjoy the privilege, especially negro families, nor allowed to go to any but schools for their own race, and these not available.

Outstanding features of the report, which the Committee on Executive and Ministerial Departments has submitted to the convention, are its provisions for a budget system and a systematic plan of departmental organization which will simplify and co-ordinate the administrative machinery of the state government, and which the committee has provided because of the outspoken demand for such simplification in the interest of economy. The committee believes that these two features will provide means for saving of millions of dollars within a few years. The need for a budget or some similar system is pointed out by the committee report in showing that the state expenses increased from $1,191,000 in 1875 to $14,735,000 in 1920, or an increase of more than 1,200 per cent. In that same period of time the taxable wealth of the state had only increased 600 per cent and the population but 200 per cent. The committee believes that a budget system of state finances is the only way to keep expenditures properly adjusted within income; to insure more careful consideration of appropriation measures, and place responsibility where it belongs.

Against the present seventy odd boards and commissions, disconnected and without apparent responsibility, the committee would establish a system of civil departments not more than twelve in number. Of these four are named by the committee, state, law, audits and accounts and treasury. The other eight, or less, are left to the legislature to name. These departments are to be under the supervision and regulation of the legislature. Subject to such limitations contained in this constitution, the general assembly may from time to time assign by law new powers and functions to departments, officers, boards, or commissions contained or created under the Constitution, and may also increase, modify or diminish their powers and functions. The secretary of state, attorney-general, state auditor and state treasurer will head the four departments named by the committee. These officers will continue to be elected by vote of the people.

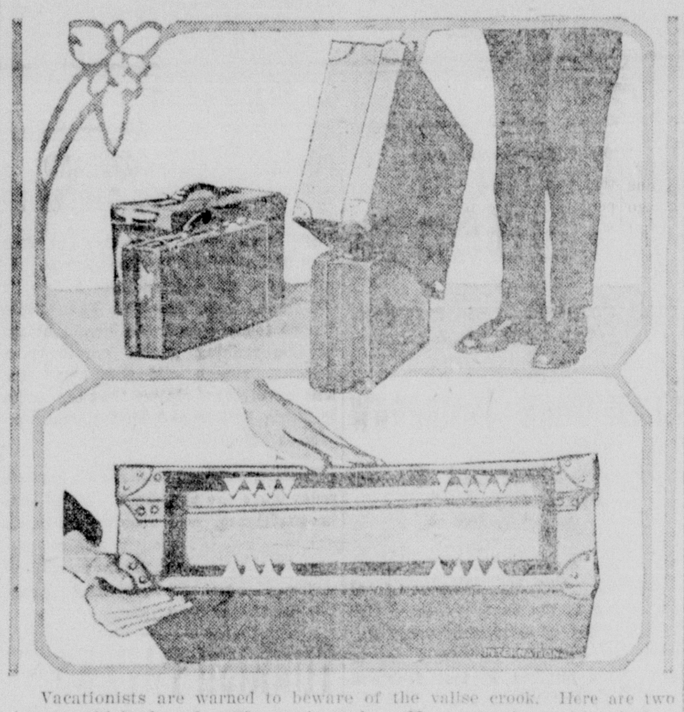
The pardoning power of the governor will be modified should another provision of the committee prove acceptable to the Convention. It provides that the governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, but in the case of commutation of sentence and pardons he must have the consent of a majority of the board of prison control or such other agency as may be created by law for this purpose. The intention is in this way to relieve the governor of some responsibility in granting pardons to please political friends, especially on the eve of his retiring from office.

The proposal providing that "The hearing of the Bible shall not be excluded from public schools," is returned without recommendation as it met with a tie vote in the committee. Proposal No. 234, providing that "The labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce," is also returned without recommendation for the same reason.

The most important change proposed by the Committee on State Officers and Salaries in its report to the convention deals with the duties of the governor and a provision for a "Public Safety Contingent Fund." It is provided in section 6 that "The governor shall take care that the laws are distributed and faithfully executed; and he shall be a conservator of the peace throughout the state, and to that end he is authorized and directed in cases of emergency to employ such number of executive agents, who shall be citizens of the State of Missouri, as he may deem necessary from time to time to keep him informed as to the health, peace, safety and general welfare of the citizens of the state. The legislature is directed at each biennial session to appropriate for a fund established, and to be known as the "public safety contingent fund," such an amount as the governor may deem necessary, not to exceed $50,000 to carry out the duties prescribed for the governor. The governor is allowed to pay out from time to time such sums from this fund for other expenses, in cases of emergency, as he may deem necessary to promote the general welfare of the citizens of the state. Any money in this fund unexpended at the end of the biennial period will revert to the general revenue fund.

The Committee on Taxation proposes to classify property so that the intangible wealth, such as money, notes, stocks and bonds may be taxed at a lower rate than real and personal property. It believes that such a plan would bring a greater amount of intangible property out of hiding and the burden would be lightened to the owner of real and personal property.

Look Out for the Valise Crook



Vacationists are warned to beware of the valise crook. Here are two pictures which show how the crook works. He comes along with a hollow bag as shown in the upper photograph, slips it over your bag and carries it away as shown in the lower photograph, which pictures the teeth holding your bag.

The reason horse shoe pitching is so popular now is because the horse shoe manufacturers have to have some market for their product since Old Dobbin gave way to Henry Ford.

The other day a couple of young women garbed in the latest long skirt style strolled down the street and created nearly as much excitement as their abreviated skirted sisters.

With the campaign days upon us we may expect to hear orators "viewing with alarm" and speaking without fear of successful contradiction.

There are some people in town so contrary that they would argue with a mad dog.

These are the days of the harvest moon and the hunter's moon but every day is moonshine day for some Maryville men.

Uncle Abner the town philosopher, says no matter if you are nearly bald you have to pay the price for a full hair cut.

A horse's mouth will show how old he is and a man's how big a fool he is.

We asked our neighbor, who bought a new car a few weeks ago, why he did not teach his wife to drive. "That is not necessary" he replied "she already does it from the back seat."

Louise, the stenographer, says the time she appreciates hard facts is when they come to her in the form of hard cash.

Our neighbor's wife says she never asks her husband to give up his bad habits because if she did she is afraid she would not be able to recognize him.

A young Maryville author has written to Forumettes asking what he could write to make himself popular with every man. We put his question to a man on the street the other day and he said "Tell him to write a home brew recipe which will work."

little girl asked her mother if she was at home when she was born. "No" replied mama "I was out at grandma's house" "Then wasn't you surprised when you came home and found me?" she asked.

SNODGRASS AND DOYLE SLID INTO DITCH.

The Rev. R. E. Snodgrass and Price Doyle, while on the way back last night from Skidmore, where they are holding a revival, slid into the ditch with Mr. Snodgrass' motor car. A Ford came by and could not pull them out, so they went to a farm house to get aid. The farmer found that his team was in the most extreme part of the pasture, but he got it up any way, in spite of the fact that it was 11 o'clock at night. He with his steady team pulled the car out.

DIES AT 103; LIFE WAS UNUSUAL HISTORIC SPAN.

Philippi, W. Va., Sept. 12. — John Hewitt, of Valley District, one of the oldest men in the state, is dead, having succumbed at his home at the advanced age of 103 years and nine days. His funeral was attended by the largest throng that ever attended a funeral in the district. John Hewitt was born in 1819—the year that Florida was purchased, the same year that Alabama came into the Union and the year before Maine and Missouri became states. He was born before Lafayette's second visit and but four years before Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo.

Produce Review.

Lack of rain and dry pastures throughout producing sections have caused lighter deliveries of cream during the week, and higher prices are being paid for butterfat and butter.

Quality of butter manufactured could be improved, if deliveries of cream were more frequent—at least three times weekly during the hot weather—and if more attention were given by producers to care and handling on the farm.

It is important that cream, to bring top prices, be clean, only slightly sour, and separated to show about 35 per cent butterfat. Warm cream should never be mixed with cold cream.

Higher temperatures throughout producing sections have affected the quality of eggs marketed. Fine, fresh eggs have advanced in price, but medium and poor stock is draggy. During warm weather eggs should be gathered daily, kept in a cool place and marketed frequently.

The movement of poultry has been above the demand for current use, causing some decline in the market. A large amount of poultry remains to be sold and even marketing is suggested, as poultry plants are now generally in position to handle normal receipts. Buyers are paying lower prices for Leghorn chickens and fowl.

WELFARE ORGANIZATION IS PROPOSED FOR NODAWAY CO

J. Adams Puffer to Present the Matter at Chamber of Commerce Dinner Next Monday.

There is a movement on foot for a welfare organization in Nodaway County. J. Adams Puffer, a field secretary of the national public welfare league, was in Maryville one day last week and conferred with the county judges, the superintendent of schools, ministers and club workers and it is said that he found a good interest in the proposition.

Arrangements have been made for Mr. Puffer to present the matter at a meeting in Maryville. He is to speak next Monday evening at the weekly dinner of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Puffer is a man of a national reputation and is known to some of the people in Maryville, having visited the State Teachers College, attended county teachers' meetings and done chautauqua work here.

At the last session of the legislature, Missouri passed a significant human welfare law for the appointment by the counties of a county superintendent of public welfare.

This man when appointed by the county judges has the following duties: Investigation and handling of all cases of defectives, dependents, truancy and poverty. He is also the parole officer for the state and the probation officer of the juvenile court. This man must be thoroughly trained for this work for his duties include every phase of human welfare.

The probate and district judge, the county judges, the charity workers, all civic club workers, superintendents of schools and the ministers will find that some part of their work is included in this social program which has its definite aim to prevent rather than cure. "An ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure."

GREAT INDUSTRIAL BOOM IN ILLINOIS

Despite Strikes, Building Is Going Forward Rapidly in Prairie State.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 12—Building operations all over the State of Illinois are booming, according to George B. Arnold, director of the State Department of Labor.

Arnold bases his statement on a statistical survey of building, employment and general business conditions in the Prairie State. From Chicago down to the small towns a renewal of work has been shown in the last two months, the director declared.

"There is plenty of work in Chicago, and workers are anxious to be employed there," Arnold said, "Peoria so far this year has had as much building completed as was completin 1921. Rockford reports activity in all lines.

"Even wage increases have been given at Decatur. At Bloomington, Moline, Rock Island and East Moline more men could be placed than are available."

The improvements leading to the industrial revival in the State came in the face of strikes and other obstructions, the director declared, but when settlement of such controversies arrives a record-breaking business era is expected.

"When industrial dissension isobviated among the workers Illinois is bound to take the lead over industrial States in a prosperity that has never before been reached," the director forecast.

BARRACKS TOO MODERN FOR SOLDIERS—FRENCH ABOLISH CONVENIENCES.

Paris, Sept. 12.—"When the French troops arrived at Mayence, the day after the armistice, they were lodged in German barracks," relates Le Carnet de la Sumaine. "These were well constructed and contained really modern comforts. There were washbowls on each floor and a locker provided for each soldier.

"The first few months and even for the first year the military authorities permitted these to remain where they were, but they ended up by deciding that washbowls and individual lockers are not in accordance with the regulations. And recently they have caused the washbowls to be closed and the lockers to be removed. Now the soldiers have to descend to do their toilette in the courtyard, as in other French barracks."

Akron, O., Sept. 12.—This city boasts the only one-armed pitcher, so far as is known, playing baseball in the person of Mike Barnard, who boasts the record of nine victories in ten starts. His most recent effort was a three-hit victory over the Twinsburg team at Hudson.

YOUNG GIRLS WHO GET IN TROUBLE USUALLY "HARD-BOILED," CLAIM.

Portland, Ore., Sept. 12.—"The girl of seventeen who gets into trouble today is usually 'hard-boiled,'" believes Miss Martha Randall, superintendent of the Women's Protective Division of the Portland Police Department.

"Girls once got into trouble at seventeen, but now the average age is fifteen, and when we find them in trouble at seventeen — well, they're rather far gone, that's all," declared the woman police official.

START FOOTBALL WORK AT COLLEGE

DID LIGHT PRACTICE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

SOME GOOD MATERIAL

Miller, Graham, Messmer, Beck, Akers, Ashcroft, Wilson, Hudson, Kirby Among Prospects

Football practice at the State Teachers College started yesterday afternoon when Coach Maynor had seventeen men in uniform on the college grid for the first work-out of the year. The first practice was light, the time being spent in kicking, charging and short passes. Several of the men who were out yesterday afternoon were worked out on punts and the indications are that the College will not be lacking in the kicking line.

Earl Miller, a former player and a letter man, is showing up well. He has a good toe and the coach says that he has the makings of a good kicker. Yesterday afternoon he got off several very creditable punts. At first his kicks were more in the line of altitude but later in the practice he began to get distance as well. Hudson, a man from Trenton, is also a good kicker.

In the way of material the College is fortunate this year. A majority of last year's letter men are back and in addition there are some new men who show prospect of helping the chances of this year's team. Edgar L. Messmer, a tackle from Kirkwood, has enrolled in school and from his previous record he should make someone work like smoke for a place on the eleven. Then here is the Trenton delegation headed by Captain Hugh Graham. All of these men are experienced players and some are all-state men. Beck, a quarter-back, was an all star man for two years and is noted for his kicking. Akers, Ashcroft, Wilson, Hudson, Young and several others from Trenton are well known to local fans.

Dick Kirby, former captain and a two-letter man in football, is back. He arrived in Maryville last night and is here to fight for his old position on the team. Kirby is also a basketball letter man and is considered one of the best athletes that Maryville ever produced.

In an interview this morning Coach Maynor said, "As a whole I'd say that prospects are good." This was about all he would say but as one of the football men said, "You ought to see him on the field."

There is one noticeable thing about the new coach. He does not ask of his men what he does not do himself. Yesterday afternoon he said "Follow me" and he led the squad for a merry little trot around the field.

The football men will be quartered in the cottages which are owned by the State Teachers College and located in the College Park. The only expense will be the heat and light and water.

There will also be a training table in the college building at which the squad will eat dinner and supper. The arrangements for breakfast have not been made.

When asked what about the boys whose homes are in Maryville, the coach said if necessary they would be excused from staying at the cottages but that he would encourage all of them to stay at the cottages if possible.

In reference to practice Mr. Maynor said that it would start every afternoon at 4 o'clock and that 4 o'clock means just then and that he would expect every man who is out for the team to be on time at practices.

It is expected that thirty or forty men will be out for football this afternoon.

Walter Freytag, Wood Mowry and Harlan Swank, members of the board of Graham, were in Maryville yesterday on legal business.

CARS FOR MATERIALS

I. C. C. Will Urge Roads to Facilitate Building at Maryville

Washington, Sept. 12—The interstate commerce commission has assured Representative C. L. Faust that it will take up with the railroad and urge that cars be provided for handling material and supplies for the building of the dormitory at Maryville.

The visit to the commission was prompted by requests submitted through the congressman for priority orders. The position of the commission, however, is that priority orders can issue only on fuel, food, feed, livestock and perishables. At the same time, there is no desire to delay industrial work anywhere and, while the commission declines to issue priority orders, it will urge the railroads to supply the equipment necessary.

TAKE UP BONUS WEDNESDAY

Conferees Expect Its Final Enactment in Ten Days

Washington, Sept. 12—With all controversial issues in the new Republican tariff bill settled by senate and house conferees, administration leaders yesterday planned to take up soldier bonus legislation with a view to its final enactment within ten days.

The bonus bill will be considered in conference Wednesday, when senate and house harmonizers will adjust differences in the measure as it passed the two branches of congress. The McNary reclamation amendment, added to the bill in the senate, was expected to be defeated in conference.

WILL HAVE WATERMELONS AND CANTALOUPES TILL FROST

J. S. Young Says That the Crop This Year Is Not a Very Heavy One.

J. S. Young, who lives seven and a half miles west of Maryville, was on the square this morning with some watermelons and some cantaloupes. He said that the crop would continue until frost. He said also that the cool weather in the last three or four days had cut down somewhat the demand for them on the market.

Mr. Young said that the melon crop had not been as heavy this year as it is some years on account of the big rain that came in July. At this time the young melons had just set on the vines. The water in some cases stood on the ground, making growing conditions bad and at the same time a wind came that twisted the runners up and rolled them about, doing considerable damage.

AS BRITAIN SEES PRESIDENT HARDING

"VAGUE GOOD WILL" HAS LET ADMINISTRATION FLOUNDER

IS 'WIGGLE AND WOBBLE

English Writer Sees People Turning In Disgust From The Republican Party

The following review of the Harding administration is taken from the Manchester Guardian. It was written by that newspaper's New York correspondent, and represents the English point of view and is designed for English consumption, but it should not prove uninteresting to American readers.

Seldom in American political history has an adminstration been so rapidly discredited as has the Harding adminstration. Not that it has been befouled by corruption or by financial exposures; it has had its share of those, but the leaders of the administration have been above such suspicion. But a general incapacity for decisive leadership has shelved one problem after another, and after a year and a half of Mr. Harding the Republican party is facing the mid-term congressional elections with the certainty of severe setbacks and the possibility of rout.

Mr. Harding in November, 1920, had a vote of almost 2 to 1 over his opponent, Mr. Cox. He came into office with both houses of congress overwhelmingly Republican, so that it seemed certain that any policy which the administration sponsored would be railroaded through congress with expedition and ease. Yet today, the administration has not a single important legislative achievement to its credit, its favored bills are being shelved until after the November elections, business is still poor, the country is submerged in a wave of strikes, and Mr. Harding's one success, the Washington conference, is forgotten or looked askance.

The bonus to ex-service men, which seemed to so many stalwart party men the great hope of making themselves popular, aroused no intense popular enthusiasm, and was bitterly opposed by business interests, which realized that it would involve dangerous currency inflation. It is to Mr. Harding's credit that he has stood by his colleague, Mr. Mellon, the secretary of the treasury, who denounced in most unpolitical terms the congressional leaders who, after vainly trying to discover a feasible plan for floating the bonus, suggested that they pass the bill in principle, leaving it to the treasury to find the money somehow after the bill was passed.

The tariff is still on the stock. It passed the house with little serious discussion. The senate finance committee modified the house plan, cutting out the "American valuation" proposal, but raising many of the already high house schedules. Clause by clause the senate is now voting the bill. There has been revolt, even among the Republican regulars, but it has been a revolt for political effect rather than of principle. Some of the highest rates in the wool schedules were reduced, but only very slightly. The bill is moving slowly toward the final vote. If and when it passes the senate, it will have to go into conference for adjustment of the differences between the house and senate texts, and then come back for renewed debate. It is uncertain whether that would be possible before the election, and many Republicans leaders prefer not to have it happen. The bill is intensely unpopular, except with interested groups, but the Republicans are committed to it, and to rejtce it now would be a terrific repudiation of the last hope of the party to claim that it has accomplished something. The leaders hope that the November revolt, while it will reduce their majority in congress, will not wipe it out, and that the slow return of business prosperity will give them and their tariff a new freedom.

The Strikes.

Meanwhile we have the strikes, and here again Mr. Harding's vague goodwill to everybody has left the administration foundering. He let the coal strike slide for three months before he attempted settlement; then he urged the disputants to get together, then "warned" them that the public's rights were paramount, then suggested a compromise (which both sides rejected), then "invited" the operators to reopen their mines and the governors to give them full military protection; that failing, he announced that the rail strike was the key to the situation and that he would settle it first. After conferences with the strike leaders and the railroad executives he announced a compromise there which the executives have just rejected. Some days ago he spoke plainly against the strikes, praising the strike breakers who were keeping open the channels of communication; now he is compelled to take the other side. In their campaign against Mr. Wilson two years ago the Republicans used the slogan, "Let us have done with wiggle and wobble;" today the Democrats are reviving it against Mr. Harding.

Mr. Harding is reported to be "tired of the presidency." It is said that he will not seek re-election. As a matter of fact, he is not yet personally unpopular. He has such a beautiful goodwill to all men; he so obviously—often rather painfully—wants to do the right thing and be nice to everybody that it is impossible to hate him as men hated Mr. Wilson. But the myth of the 1920 election that the return to power of the Republican party would bring a new efficiency and vigor into the business of government, and with it a restoration of "good times" for business, is shattered. People are turning from that party in disgust and disappointment; it has failed in its appointed task. With rare unanimity the primary elections have shown the people turning from the regulars of the "old guard" to progressive revolters against the kind of business policy of which the ship subsidy and tariff bills are examples.

The trouble is that they find only shades of difference in the men who come before them as candidates. Two years have tried them of the Republican party, but they have not forgotten their disappointment with the Democratic party. Since Mr. Wilson's fall that party has not brought forward any new leaders, or even a new program. It is today merely the party of opposition. And there is not yet a third party movement of any real significance. Many politicians in Washington are recalling the birth of the Republican party in the 50s and thinking that the time is ripe for another such new birth. It is entirely within the bounds of possibility that the progressive leaders of the Republican party, men like Senators Borah and La Follette, may break away before the next presidential campaign and found a new party movement. If they should, American politics would suddenly acquire a new interest and a new realism.
